Lil Nas X and the Satanic Panic

Governor Kristi Noem

@govkristinoem

Our kids are being told that this kind of product is, not only okay, it's "exclusive." But do you know what's more exclusive? Their God-given eternal soul.

We are in a fight for the soul of our nation. We need to fight hard. And we need to fight smart. We have to win.

We've turned George Floyd, a criminal drug addict, into an icon.

We are promoting Satan shoes to wear on our feet.

We've got Cardi B named as woman of the year.

But we're convinced it's white supremacy that's keeping black America behind.

How stupid can we be?

dear 14 year old montero,

i wrote a song with our name in it. it's about a guy i met last summer. i know we promised to never come out publicly, i know we promised to never be "that" type of gay person, i know we promised to die with the secret, but this will open doors for many other queer people to simply exist. you see this is very scary for me, people will be angry, they will say i'm pushing an agenda. but the truth is, i am. the agenda to make people stay the fuck out of other people's lives and stop dictating who they should be. sending you love from the future.

i spent my entire teenage years hating myself because of the shit y'all preached would happen to me because i was gay. so i hope u are mad, stay mad, feel the same anger you teach us to have towards ourselves.
